

CELEBRATING IRISH CULTURE AT

Being at the Irish Cultural Centre during the month of March is a highlight of the St. Patrick's Day season in New England. With a full schedule of concerts, ceili dances, sessions, family fun, food and drink and festivities, the Centre is a bustling place of fun and relaxation. Children, parents and grandparents all gather together in the true Irish way, to enjoy the craic and the camaraderie, and to carry on Irish cultural traditions here in greater Boston.

Enjoy amazing music and dancing the weekend of March 8-10, with Irish soprano Clodagh Boyle and Green Road performing on Friday, direct from Ireland.

Then on Saturday afternoon, Comhaltas Ceoltóirí Éireann brings its music and special Ceili dancing to the Centre, followed by an evening concert with local favorites Trevor Sexton and Ger O'Donnell. On Sunday, the band Breaking Trad gives an energetic and innovative performance by three exquisite musicians, Donald Murphy, David Doocey and Mike Galvin.

On March 12, ICC friends gather to honor Deirdre & Bob Leger with the annual 'Gradam Dóchais' for their outstanding contributions and philanthropic work with the Boston & New England Rose of Tralee over the past 38 years

Enjoy St. Patrick's Weekend Festival on March 16-17 with live music and dance from the surrounding dance schools. On March 16th, Family

Day includes Celtic arts & crafts, face painting, balloon animals and Irish dance performances. Corned beef and cabbage will be served throughout, with music by Strawberry Hill & Slainte. The weekend continues with a pop-up Gaeltacht at an ICC Pub, a chance for Irish speakers to gather together and converse in their native language. Irish Vendors will be on hand with live music and dance to celebrate all that is Irish on St. Patrick's Day weekend.

On March 23 and 30, popular one-man band Dave Try performs live at the ICC Pub, a great way to spend a Saturday night.

The Irish Cultural Centre is a year-round facility on 46 acres and is run by a small, devoted staff and a cadre of volunteers, who showcase all that is bright, beautiful and inspiring about Irish culture. Their work underscores the importance of keeping Irish culture – music, dancing, language, learning - vibrant and relevant in greater Boston.
